Frontiersman Figuring Before Oakland Judges.

le a Western Character-Odd Family Troubles - The Ready Six-Shooter-A Divorce.

A constant litigant at Oakland, Calif., is Joel J. Hurt, who has been described in the daily reports for seva wool grower. His fortune is too great for him. Hurt is a character worth writing and reading about.

Hurt's business in Oakland is to try and get the children of the old marriage from his former wife. She divorced him, secured the little ones and rehusbanded. The woman didn't treat Auxiliary Legislature Can Hurt quite right. He killed a man on her account. Mrs. Hurt went into court while her husband was in jail awaiting trial on capital indictment. In this situation she had things her Note From Justices of Supreme own way. Hurt was mayor of the petroleum and wool town of Casper, Wyo. The wife complained to him that she had been insulted on the street. Hurt knew the man she described for a loafer and rough and in a wild rage went out at once and shot him down.

At this time in Wyoming the vogue of the six-shooter was on the wane and Hurt, with all his money, was prosecuted most vigorously and was in the toils a couple of years before he was acquitted. In the meantime the woman had secured the divorce, pos-session of the children, a handsome alimony and a handsomer man.

For a time the ex-Mrs. Hurt and the children and the new husband lived at Denver. Hurt made it interesting and uncomfortable for them. They to decide moved to California. They did not think Hurt would follow, but he was soon on the scene. During the past six months the children have had no moneys'? less than fourteen guardians. The position of caretaker of the young ones has attractive emolument, but it has the constant chance that Hurt will come along at any moment and raise a rumpus and take the children. Those who have known Hurt wonder that he does not kill the successor to the woman's affections. He was accused in court at Oakland of having such an man in the case, even his staunchest friends of the pioneer days of Wyoming would not justify him to work are rentals aggregating $450. He's a tall, lithe, active, sunburned man, blonde hair and moustache and with a light eye that changes color and becomes sharper and brighter and more wicked when er and originer and more wicked when he is aroused in anger. He has been guide and hunter and scout and cour-ier and everything worth being in the early wild life of the West. Hurt was a member of the Wyoming State Senate once. In his first speech he wanted to say "hue and cry" and he put it "human cry" and wondered for some time why they laughed. Then he was tice Judd being disqualified in the matter at bar, the Kahului case, and Justice Frear being absent on Commission business. time why they laughed. Then he em ployed a newspaper man for coach and was willing to stand treat any time anyone said "human cry." What a heart Hurt had. He must have it yet. And how it must pain him above the wrist, remained in a cast for Yorkers. As yet, too, Gear, Lansing & to fell how things have come about.

His first thoughts always in the days a week, when it was discovered that before the killing were for the wife the fractured bone had been pressed and children. He idolized the lot of out of place on the inside and was not them. Mrs. Hurt was a plain woman, knitting at all. The result has been, of but she dressed like a queen. Hurt was course, that the broken parts have had not particular of his own appearance, to be reset. It will be several weeks warm in winter and wear the money is sprained and he is forced, for the worth. But nothing was too good for the wife and children. What tales of adventure he could tell. He knew all about Indians and bears and mountain lions and horse thleves and sluice-box robbers and road agents and Mormons and tenderfeet and wagon immigrants is being presented at the Columbia and cowboys and Englishmen hunting Theater in Washington city. The and miners and tramps. While Hurt the rest of the state one day and ate heartily. Meals were rated at $1.50 each. When the travelers were through they said then rated at $1.50 each. When the travelers were through they said they were without scrip because it was the custom of their alling. Hurt gave them a fright. He proposed to kill them, saying it would be a kindly act because they were 400 miles from a settlement and "broke" and had better be dead. Pay for the meals was at once forth-

Hurt and his money make a double study. In his sheep business, with wool at 22 and 23 cents a pound and mutton commanding a good figure, profits accumulated so rapidly that he became confused. He was not cheated out of any money, but he made some astounding buys. He purchased a cotton plantation in Texas, a small cane estate in Louisiana, farms in Missouri and Illinois, stock feeding outfits in Nebraska and Kansas. Possibly the shrinkages of recent times have interfered with his progress as a money maker, but eight or nine years ago the outlook was that he would become very rich. Hurt has a bad scar on one side of his face. It was drawn there by a bear's claw. Hurt said he had been told when a boy that if one could happen upon a bear when it was asleep and waken it softly, control of the beast would be accomplished. He tried. The bear was found slumbering on the sunny side of a big stone. Hurt spoke to it gently. Then a streak of bear passed and left him insensible and bleeding.

Talking-Arrests Made By Detective-Inquest.

(From Wednesday's Advertiser.) There were some notable develop ments yesterday in the case of the drowning of Kiki Ringer in Honolulu harbor Sunday night. In the afternoon it was reduced almost to a certainty that the man was cut and beaten all but to death and then thrown in the bay to drown.

Natives along the wharf are full of stories about the matter. Kulekana, a sailor of the W. G. Hall, was full of swipes yesterday and said a great deal to show that he knew there was a killing and knew considerable of the .He was found by Detective David Kapaa and locked up. Another native named Kanohokai has also been arrested for the evidence he may be able to give. The real guilty men are not yet in sight, but there were de-velopments late last night to warrant the arrest of two and perhaps three on the strongest of suspicion. Unfortun-ately all of them are out of town at present.

With the evidence that there was a murder is the equally conclusive show-ing that the tragedy occurred either on the Mikahala or the Walaleale. vessels are now at sea, and their return is anxiously awaited by the police department. There is hardly a question but that the murder cocurred over or following a gambling affair. Ringer was known to carry a Russian War cloth and to be a banker. Wherever he found "sports" he "pitched his tent." Native sailors were among his chief patrons.

The two men arrested will be quizzed closely this morning. It is believed they will tell all they know of circumstances surrounding the affair. Kulekana was too drunk yesterday after-noon to make a statement.

John Kuuaana, Joe Kalana, Kaona, Eli Kekipi, Nabolowan and Hiona compose the coroner's jury on the case After a short conference yesterday they decided to stay proceedings until the return of the Mikahala from Kauai.
Of the case Detective David Kaapa said last night that he believed he was on the right track and hoped to make a record in ferreting it out and bringing the guilty parties to justice. He has no doubt but that the murder theory will be proved and he will work solely on that line.

SEASON OF BALL.

Pigskin and "The Leather" Are to Be Handled.

The Towns have accepted a chatenge from the New York foot ball team for a game to be played at Makaki on Saturday afternoon, October 15. Practice will begin tomorrow afternoon. As the Towns are not in shape, a defeat will not be a surprise, but it is felt that the practice will be good. Mr. J. Q. Wood, who has charge of the Town team, feels confident, however, that he will be able to make a strong showing.

FOOT BALL,

MR. EDITOR: -In the interest public it is suggested that the Town foot ball team decline to accept the challenge of Punahou for a game on Thanksgiving day. The better way, in the opinion of many, would be to have a series, the same as in former years. The New York Regiment has a third team. Let there be the usual contests and the two superior teams play on Thanksgiving day for the year's championship. It is difficult to see how there can be any objection to this fair and sportsmanlike plan.
